ELECTION FOR STATE SENATOR IN FALL AFTER SUMMER VACATION

AUBURN: Governor Earl Warren of California has informed the supervisors of Placer County the next state senator from Placer, Nevada and Sierra Counties, the seventh district will be chosen at a special election at the "earliest possible date following the end of the vacation period."

Schools in Placer County are scheduled to open September and for the fall term.

Warren's message was communicated to the supevisors Monday in answer to their request that the date be announced so a soil conservation district election in Placer County can be set at the same time.

The supervisors as a result put over until July 8th a further hearing on the conservation district in the hope the governor will have set a specific date by that time for the three county election to choose former Senator Seawell's successor. They announced they still desire to combine the two elections.

In his letter to the board Governor Warren stated Sierra and Nevada Counties are indifferent regarding a date for the election and that since Seawell's successor could not qualify for the present session he would set a date "immediately after the school vacation when practically all of the people will be at home and available for voting."

The supervisors asked Senator Jesse Mayo of Angels Camp to assist in obtaining passage of legaslation in the state senate making the road between Forest Hill and the Mother Lode Highay a state road.

The legislation was introduced by Assemblyman A. G. Thurman.

The boad adopted a resolution asking that the superior judge of Placer County be paid a salary commensuate with salaries in other counties of like size. Copies of the resolution were sent to Governor Warren of California and to Assemblyman Thurman of Colfax.

CHARGED WITH RAIDING SHACK, FOUR ACCUSED OF BURGLARY WOMAN IN CASE DISMISSED

District Attorney Ward Sheldon yesterday ordered dismissed charges of burglary against Mrs. Frances Norris. Tom L. Norris, John Lanyon and Solon Wood, face a preliminary examination the date for which has not yet been set. Wood was arraigned yesterday morning before Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve.

Norris, his kife Frances, Lanyon and Wood were arrested last week on charges of entering and robbing the small barn of possessions of Floyd Pond, former Los Angeles peace officer. The barn stood near the Banner Road, on Town Talk. Included in the stolen items were a pair of heavy boots, three tires, fishing tackle, a shot gun, a box of shotgun cartridges and boxes of canned fruit.

NEVADA CITY: Three men and one woman are lodged in the county jail here to face accusations of burglary. The three are Tom Norris, 26, and his wife, Francis Norris, living on Banner Road, John Lanyon, 22, of Lucas Lane, Grass Valley, and Solon D. Wood, 32, who lives on the Tahoe Ukiah highway five miles east of Nevada City.

The four are accused of robbing Floyd Pond's shack, off Banner Road near Town Talk, of a miscellaneous assortment of small articles including shotgun, a box of shot gun shells, heavy boots, tires, fishing tackle nd revolver holsters. Much of the stolen property has been recovered.

Pond, formerly on the staff of the Los Angeles sheriff's office, with his wife had been touring the country with a trailer. He had decided to end his tour, according to his statement to the sheriff, and had sold his trailer, and was selling other personal property. Pond said Norris looked over his property, purchased nothing, and he later discovered the shack where he had his belonging stored had been practically stripped Investigation by Deputy Sheriff Percy Watters and A. D. Pepper resulted in finding some of the missing articles in the Norris residence. They later confessed that other Pond property had been buried back of their house on Banner Road. These were dug up Saturday afternoon and taken to the sheriff's office. Wood was arrested as a suspected accomplice.

Norris, his wife, and Lanyon were arraigned before Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve Saturday and bail fixed at $1000 each. It was expected that Wood will be arraigned today. The sheriff's office stated one of the stolen tires was found in his possession.

TRAIL RIDERS EXPLORE AREA NEAR BRIDGPORT

GRASS VALLEY: The Gold Trail Riders had an active week end with a meeting on Friday night and a trail ride on Sunday. The meeting was highlighted by a "pep" talk by Jack Elded, president of the Auburn riding club, the Sierra Rangers. Elder gave the club many pointers on the type of entertainment that a saddle club can furnish and gave many ideas that would be of value to any riding group.

He also issued an invitation from the Sierra Rangers to a picnic to be given by that organization on May 4th. It is to be held near the Folsom Road about 8 miles below Auburn. Riders are invited to bring their horses, as many riding events are scheduled. All nearby riding clubs are invited to the event which is to be an annual affai..

At the next meeting a man from Sacramento will bring a display of riding outfits from which the club uniform may be selected. All local horsemen or anyone interested will be welcome to attend this meeting which will be held at the Memorial Hall on Friday, May 9th.

For the trail ride which was for the specific purpose of finding a trail through the county to be incorporater into the State Trails Project, the riders met at Abrams Slaughter house and rode down the pole line where they forded Deer Creek. From there they rode through a ranch property where they found CCC built road almost to Bridgeport. Some of the riders returned by way of the highway and others went back the route they had come. The ride was reported as one of the most enjoyable ever held..

MUSEUM GETS SALOON CLOCK

NEVADACITY: A clock that hung on the wall of a saloon in North San Juan, and stopped by a bullet many years ago, has been given the Nevada County Historical Society's museum here.

Both shattered glass and pendulum are still inside the clock that stopped at 1.22 o'clock. It is believed some early morning celebrant shot the clock on the assumption it was lying about the time.

Other gifts recently received were a lard oil lamp that miners once used. found at French Corral and presented by Weston Wyllie, and a hand made rock fork used for throwing large pebbles and stones from the sluice boxes, presented by Cyrus Rollins.

Fiery End For Assembly Of God Church Building

GRASS VALLEY: Flames Saturday morning swept over a row of buildings on Empire Road, which forms at the city boundary on the south, and left ruin in its wake.

Buildings totally destroyed were the Assembly of God Church, in which the fire is believed to have started, a cabinet shop containing power tools, and the living quarters connected with Park View Market. Total damage, based partially on replacement costs, is estimated at $15,000.

The buildings standing just across the road from the city, presented something of a problem to the city fire department, but after one look at the fire and the danger to residences and buildings within the city, Fire Chief Henry Strick orderd all equipment out, despite the recent order of the city council denying suburban areas the city police and fire services.

Three Grass Valley fire trucks and 25 firemen were sent to the scene, and State Forest Ranger William Sharp sent a fire truck and crew of five from the state forestry division headquarters adjacent to Nevada City.

Dan Ascar, assistant fire chief stated that the cause of the fire was not definitely known, but it is believed that it started from an oil heater left burning in the Assembly of God Church. Cashicar reported that neighbors heard an explosion about 4 o'clock and it was shortly after that the alarm came in.

Firemen are certain that had it not been for their suppression efforts the Park View Market would certainly burned and other buildings west of the hurch, and across the road would easily have caught fire.

The market was badly scorched but was open for business as usual this morning.

Firemen were handicapped by a lack of water. They constructed an impromptu dam on Little Wolf Creek to get enough water to work the pumper trucks.

When they got the first stream on the flames, the fire was gaining headway and had apparently doomed the Parkview Market building. The Oliver home across the street was slightly scorched.

Completely destroyed were the contents of the Assembly of God Church and equipment of Harry Bowen's cabinet shop and the furnishings in the MacDonald and Hale apartments in the two famiuy apartment house on Ophir Street, across from Memorial Park.

Peter Hanrikson owned the apartment house and cabnet shop structure.. They were partially covered by insurance..

Ironically,, Henrikson has been an enthusiastic advocate of incorporation of Kendallco with Grass Valley. His purpose was to secure better fire protection for the area. Other owners in the district opposed him.

The state trucks and three city fire wagons pumped eight lines of hose in combating the fire.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about democrats,
I wonder about tories,
I read so much about the twain
In novelettes and stories,
I wonder about governments—
Our own and many others,
And will they ever learn to live
Like neighbors, friends and brothers?
It is entirely natural to wonder about governments. At the present time, governments, governors and governed are before us for consideration. Good governments are intent upon demonstrating their superiority, and bad ones are exposing the evils and weaknesses that are inherent in them.

Now our government is supposed to be a democracy, but again I wonder. Sometimes I think it is an oligarchy, wherein the few serve themselves at the expense of the many; then at times I think of the United State as a triumvirate, ruled arrogantly by Messrs. Green, Murray and Lewis, with Mr. Lewis in the role of Highcockalorum.

Certaiinly, our government is not what it used to be; trade unionism has encroached upon our privileges until we cannot tell what the next day will bring forth. Srrikes, walk outs and lock outs dominate the American scene and our industrial machinery may be stopped even to the point of paralysis at a moments notice. We talk about these conditions and look hopefully to congress for panaceas. Of course our legislators are experts in offering amendments and probably by the time a bill to curb the autocratic powers of unionism is passed, by both houses, it will be a gentle, ineffective thing and the president may veto it or not, as the spirit moves.

I wonder if we were too impatient with the Big Four. Considering the long centuries during which our war machinery was being brought to its present state of awesom perfection is it strange that the citadel of peace cannot be built in a day? Some time a more efficient Big Four will sense the futility of name calling, of stressing national and racial difference and practicing the arts of hate and then perchance we shall hear song of peace echoing around the world. When? I don't know, but it will probably take time and a greater will to achieve.

I wonder if our Eleanor has been guilty of a faux pas. To sell a beautiful and costly gift which typified to the giver something of spiritual worth as exemplified in the good neighbor policy—would'nt that be somewhat crude? Adm. Dewey years ago, was soundly excoriated for presenting to his wife the home given him by an admiring public, but at least, he kept the gift in the family. It is to be hoped that Eleanor will place her lovely aquamarine in a museum at Washington. Its intrinsic worth lies not alone in the dollars and cents which it represents and in a sense the gem belongs to the nation. It should not pass into private ownership.—Adeline Merriam Conner..

THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

Town Meeting of the Air put on a big debate Thursday night last. We hope a good many million Americans heard it. The question debated was whether the foreign policy of the United States regarding aid to Greece and Turkey, will lead to war or peace. Two of the speakers declared it would lead to war, one of them was not sure whether it would or not, and one was firmly convinced the policy would lead to peace.

Mr. Burnam, whose recent book has stirred up so much interest in the present U. S. foreign policy, an interest that at times amounts to a red hot controversy, opened the debate. General tener of his talk was: "Stop Russia before it's too late." Opposing speakers agreed that Russia should not be permitted further expansion, but wanted the job done by the United Nations rather than by unilateral action on the part of the United States.

It was pointed out by Burnam and Alf Landis, one time candidate for the presidency on the Republican ticket, that the U. N. was a very slender reed to lean on. That Russia could always exercise it's veto in U. N., and that in any event the U. N. had no machinery or means now for doing the job of helping free nations to remain free. And that this was something that needed doing immediately.

To our thinking the speakers who approved the foreign policy of the United States as regards aid for Greece and Turkey, had much the best of the argument. The recent history of Russia was freely reviewed. Her former alliance witn Germany, and partition of Poland by agreement with Hitler, was spotlighted. The parallelism of the German Social State and of the Russian Communistic was repeatedly pointed out.

While it was the contention of the critics of U. S. foreign policy that it was possible for two ideologies, radically different to live in the same world, Stalin and Lenin were quoted to show that Russian leaders did not believe it possible, and in fact were preparing to take over and reshape the world in the communist pattern. Which brings us down to brass tacks. Why in the world should we exercise Christian forbearance and try to practice the Golden Rule toward Russia, when that is exactly what this unchristian and agnostic nation hopes we will do. The Russian leadership is unhampered by any Christian principle. The goal they seek is to be attained with no regard for the right, as we see it. The jungle law, always operative so far as the Russian domestic policies are concerned, is now being applied to the world on Russian borders, and the borders are being constantly enlarged..

The Russians undoubtedly have had many a good laugh, at the help we have given the starving peoples of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Poland and all the countries through the Balkans. What we have done is to strengthen the Russian grip on them, wipe out dissenters, the liberty lovers, and strengthen the minority communists gang in every country where our millions for relief was dispensed..

To the Russian oligarchy, that is not double dealing, but merely good hard horse sense. Why keep the opposition alive when it could be starved for lack of food? Now we propose to keep the great majority of the Greeks alive and in fit condition to fight for their traditional freedom. We propose to do the same for Turkey even though in neither case do the governments fit exactly into our ideals of Democracy. But at any rate neither do they fit the communist ideal. They are very far from that.

The doubt we have concerning the policy upon which the United States is now embarking is whether Russia can be contained simply by spending U. S. money. We doubt it. We hope it will be sufficient, but we have a strong conviction that the only thing that stands between the United States and war with Russia in a very few years, is the atom bomb. Russia respects one thing only, and that is force.

REFINEMENTS IN HEART DIAGNOSIS CITED

SAN FRANCISCO: The diagnosis of obscure heart conditions which might be overlooked by ordinary electrocardiographic and other medical examination has been made possible by refinements in the use of the electrocardiograph.

Dr. Mauric Sokolov, who has been a leader of a group of University of California Medical School physicians studying the refined technique, said in a recent article that its use is no longer limited to research but is ready for clinical application.

The electrocardiograph has been used since the turn of the centuy to record and measure the electric currents set up by the passage of the nerve impulse though the heart muscle. Wave variations in the finished cardiogram produce patterns characteristic of the different conditions affecting the heart. These patterns can be determined in about 75 per cent of patients with hear disease.

However since it has been customary to take electrical measurements from the wrists and ankles, subtle and localized abnormalties of the heart may be obscured by the larger mass of more normal heart muscle in the transmission of the impulse from the heart to the extremities.

To overcome this defect, Dr. F N. Wilson, of Michigan originated the taking of more direct measurements from positions across the chest. Using this technique with refinements, the University of California investigators have demonstrated evidence of heart disease not found by ordinary electrocardiograms in 25 per cent of cases.

TEEN AGE DRIVERS

Teen age boys and girls are inclined to be a little on the reckless side when they climb behind the wheel of a car. Parents should strive continually to educate their ten-age sons and daughters in the ways of safe and responsible driving, if they want them to stay out of accidents, or stay alive.

The width of a spark plug gap that will be cleared by the current when the plug is being tested when out of its post may be altogether too great for efficient functioning when in place. The difference is accounted for in the increased resistance of the compressed gases when the plug is in place.

Fairness Begets Fairness

Recently I found in my mail an unusual letter. It was an impressive letter, for it came from a well-known manufacturer on the subject of labor unions and their leaders. Omitting the personalities involved, I should like to offer you the letter in full. It is so sane and offers such rich practical suggestions for settlement of some of our huge industrial problems that I want to pass it on to readers of this column.

"Dear Sir: Your description of the labor situation in Sweden almost depicts the labor situation of the (XYZ) industry in our country. Mr. X, the founder of the Union, plus the cooperation of the manufacturers, brought it about. And I dare say this labor leader instilled the spirit of cooperation into the manufacturers by fair play and honest tactics.

Men of Calibre

"Since the formation of the Union in 1919, no strikes have occurred. The instruments installed by him for orderly settlements of disputes are no doubt well known to you.

"All of this leads to one conclusion. If the leaders of labor are men of right calibre, strikes are almost impossible because employers are invariably reluctant to have their business disrupted and are willing to meet fairness with fairness; hence, my advice is: Urge labor unions to choose wise and business-like leaders; men of high ideals, thoroughly honest.

"All of this may sound silly, but to prove my point: There existed a (XYZ) union before Mr. X's entry which had no influence and accomplished nothing, and if allowed to continue would have perhaps brought disaster to the industry like in so many others.

"If labor were headed by men who are qualified for leadership, labor troubles would eventually be of minor importance."

Horse-Sense

So ends this very pointed letter from my manufacturer friend, who obviously is no enemy of labor. Actually, the reasons so apparent why management should be the friend of labor are almost the same set of reasons why labor should stand solidly for cooperation with management. After all, the two are the main components of industry, labor and management. Their objectives are the same. Neither can exist without the other. This bespeaks, with all the logic of plain horse-sense underscored by the compulsion of self-interest: cooperation.

Strikes are Outmoded

Orderly settlement of industrial disputes would mean much to the welfare of our nation at this time of crisis when we are reconverting our industry to the ways of peace. Strikes are now too costly, to labor and to management, and to the public, to have any prominent place in the settlement of industrial disputes.

In this enlightened time, when word is almost as swift as thought and the facts are so easy of access, surely these two components of industry with so much in common can make use of the council table instead of the strike. With wisdom and fairness and honesty prevailing this can be done. We have had full demonstration that frequent large strikes are the route to disaster.

Land of Vikings

Norway is one of the delightful little countries of Europe. About the size of two of our average states, her population is only three million—half that of New York City. A parliament is elected by direct vote of the people every four years, and it constitutes the real authority of the nation. They have a King, who reigns but does not rule. Next to the King, the speaker of the parliament is the highest official in the country. The fairhaired Norwegians are a strong, sturdy people, whose chief quality is individualism.

Communism invaded Norway at the end of World War I. A "labor" party was created by the Communists, but eventually most of its members went over to the "Socialist Democrats," now the leading party controlling more than half the 150 seats in parliament. The extent to which Marxian philosophies have been made into harmful practice is evident when one examines the present state of Norwegian industry. It is apparent that the early Communist influence did not just disappear in an assimilation into the leading labor party, but remains like a hungry dog, strayed from Russia, and is now eyeing the prosperous merchant fleet of Norway.

Equalization

The greatest private industry Norway has ever developed is her merchant marine that sails the seven seas, all out of proportion to the size of the country. This shipping industry has been the chief source of revenue for balancing the national budget and for obtaining essential foreign credit. It remains the backbone of Norwegian finance.

Present policies of the Socialist government, in an attempt to equalize everything for everybody, are seriously threatening this important industry. This is the pattern: It took 4,600,000 government dollars to subsidize the distribution of milk last year, therefore to meet the cost of this subsidy a 4,600,000 dollar tax was placed on the shipping industry because it had experienced a good year and appeared able to pay.

Killing the Goose

A reliable Norwegian informant told this story. The merchant marine lost many ships during the war, and although they were insured by Lloyd's of London it was impossible to transfer the money to Norway while the country was in the grip of the Germans. Accordingly, the funds were held as credit in London.

The present Socialist government now looks anxiously over the books of the shipping companies. If they conclude that a lost ship had quite paid for itself, they tax the company 85% of the face of the insurance policy. This extremely high tax on the shipping industry, plus virtual confiscation of insurance premiums on lost ships, threatens to reduce the industry to the detriment of the entire nation.

This is a fine example of killing the goose to get more eggs immediately, but the production of golden eggs in the future is definitely threatened. I cannot help feeling that the source of this sort of thing in Norway was the stray dog influence of Communism. I found it the distinct opinion of those who have done most to create the wealth of Norway that the greatest present threat to progress now is monopoly and regimentation.

Mealtime Magic

BAKING POWDER BISCUIT

Remember those light, flaky biscuits mother used to make? They added just the right touch to the meal. You're sure to find mother's secret in this recipe for

Baking Powder Biscuit

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 to 4 tablespoons fortified margarine
¾ cup milk (about)

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut margarine into flour until it looks like peas (do not cut too small—flaky bits about the size of peas will make flakier biscuits). Add milk sufficient to make a soft but not too sticky dough. Turn out on a floured board and knead for two or three turns. Roll out or press to desired thickness. Cut. Bake on ungreased biscuit pan in hot oven (425° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 1½ dozen biscuit.

Council Plans Street Improvements

GRASS VALLEY: A resolution was adopted by the Grass Valley City Council meeting last Tuesday night declaring Alta, Race, Whiting and Henderson Streets to be of major importance. But this means it is expected to make them eligible for expenditure of funds from the one fourth of a cent gas tax alloted to cities.

The council decided to write the Allyn Burr Company of Sacramento relative to one of the tennis courts in Memorial Park which the company resurfaced last year. Councilman have found the work unsatisfactory.

Dr. E. M. Roesner, city health officer, reported that a survey of restaurants indicate that some minor improvements in some of them should be made to conform with health and sanitation standards.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MOTORS TO CAMP FAR WEST

GRASS VALLEY: Members of the Nevada County Historical Society Sunday afternoon motored to the old military cemetery at Camp Far West and also examined the western remnants of the Donner Trail.

The cemetery is on the Johnson Ranch. They proceeded along the new military road, visiting the old town of Spenceville, which had been converted into a simulated German village for use in training maneuvers.

E. G. Kinyon pointed out the route to Camp Far West and the Johnson Ranch. Captain D. H. Renner, aid to General James Weaver of Camp Beale led the motorcade through the military cantonment and at 5 p. m. the members of the society had dinner in the officers mess at the end of the tour.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY FISHING

On opening day of trout season there will be a concentration of San Diego anglers on Hawser Creek, reports National Automobile Club, and there should also be good fishing on San Luis Rey. Fishing is expected to be poor in both Pine Creek and Adar Creek since the water is very low.

MUTED GREEN wool tweed is used for this handsome suit, which is a nice balance between the tailored and the soft dressmaker type. Waist minimizing, so important this season, is achieved via the seaming that starts under the arms and converges at the one-button closing. Tabs from the waist slip through loops and button down, a detail that is repeated at the shoulders. Collarless, it is pointed up by a soft chiffon scarf.

TOM MULCAHY HEADS 17TH DIST. AGRICULTURAL BD

GRASS VALLEY: Thomas Mulcahy, orchardist of Alta Hill, has been elected president of the 17th Agricultural District Board, which has charge of the Nevada County Fair. Mulcahy succeeds U. S. N. Johnson of Nevada City.

Miss Ewith Scott was re-elected treasurer, and Loyle Freeman was again chosen manager.

At the meeting held in the Nevada Irrigation District assembly room there was a discussion concerning whether a fair should be held this fall. The directors considered it unlikely because of lack of improvements at Watt Park, and the continuing delay in obtaining adjacent acreage.

Tht new fire company for Boston Ravine was organized with twenty-five members. James McLachlan was elected president, Wm. Campbell was treasurer and T. J. Tierney was secretary.

Simeon R. Wilder, an old resident of Grass Valley died at his home leaving three daughters, the eldest being Mrs. T. W. Sigourney of Nevada City. Mr. Wilder's wife, the former Selina Brice who passed away a few years arlier, was one of the first white children born in Grass Valley.

Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada and former resident of Nevada City, believed he received the last note ever penned by Lincoln. The day before the assassination, said the senator, "I was in New York talking with Niles Searls, an old friend I had known in Nevada City. He was then a judge. He expressed his desire to meet Lincoln, so I suggested we take a train for Washington." The senator and Niles Searls went over to the White House on the evening of the following day and sent word to the president that they would like to see him. The president wrote a note in reply that he and Mrs. Lincoln were going to Ford's Theatre that evening but asked Stewart and his friend to call the next morning at ten o'clock. "That note", said the senator, "was the last thing Lincoln ever wrote." Stewart and Searls were chatting on the steps of the White House a few minutes later when the president and Mrs. Lincoln came out and Judge Searls was introduced. They talked a few minutes and Lincoln left the White House never to return. "I have accomplished what I came for" said Searls to Stewart. "I have met and talked with him and I believe I will go back to New York tonight."

Knutson told officers that he had encountered the men in downtown Auburn and had been offered a ride to Butcher Ranch for the sum of $1.50.

A letter received from Shelby Cormack of Chico, formerly of North San Juan, outlined a plan for a home coming on the Fourth of July of the old timers who moved away from the San Juan Ridge when the mines were closed by the Sawyer Act in 1883. Ed Furth had charge of Oakland and vicinity and William Twamley was appointed to comb San Francisco for former old time residents.

At a meeting of the North San Juan Ridge Waterusers Assn. a committee consisting of W. J. Musfield of North San Juan, Mrs. Kate Sullivan of French Corral and E. B. Dudley of North Bloomfield was appointed to call on Mr. Wisker to determine what the Nevada Irrigation District proposed to do for the Ridge.

The Grand Masonic Lodge of California layed the cornerstone of the new Placer Union High School at Auburn on April 34rd. Hon. George L. Jones of Nevada City presided at the ceremonies.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY FISHING

Although water is low in all streams throughout this area, fishing should be good on opening day. A few trout have been left over from last year in Pullermill and Dark Canyon and last week these two streams were planted with rainbow trout.

Fishing in Colorado River is improving. Bass are rising to surface plugs, and mud sucker fishermen are getting some good results.

AUBURN POLICE HOLD PAIR ON ARMED ROBBERY CHARGE

AUBURN: Sheriff E. J. Kenison and Chief of Police Fred Adge reported late Friday that George Williams, alias Allen B. Colby is a three time loser who was being sought on charges which include armed robbery, counterfeiting and car theft. Reno authorities also are seeking him on charges of car theft.

George Tonkin, Pitt ranch employee, identified Colby Friday morning as one of the men who had robbed him early Wednesday evening in a manner similar to the way the robbery was committed on R. B. Knutson.

Allen B. Colby, 22, and Henry Bybee, 42, were being questioned in the county jail today following their arrest Wednesday night by city police on charges of armed robbery.

Chief of Police Fred Adge said that the men were being held on a complaint signed by R. B. Knutson of Butcher Ranch, who said that the men had taken $10 from him at the point of a knife on Highway 40 about two miles west of Auburn at 11:30 p. m.

After being robbed and told to get out of the car, Knutson returned to Auburn and notified police. He gave the license number of the car and City Officers James Kaufman and George Larter, in searching the town found the car parked in front of the Signal Cafe on High Street.

CAMPTONVILLE FIRE EXTINGUISHED

NEVADA CITY: The Tahoe National Forest Wednesday reported that a 50 acre fire had been extinguished by a fire suppression crew under Ranger James Rittenhouse along Alleghany Ridge in the Camptonville ranger district, Yuba County.

George Vance, fire dispatcher, with Tom Bowles at the controls flew over the burning area and was able to direct the crew in its suppression. He reported that though no great damage was done, the fire reveals plainly that the fire season has started.

A Variety of Dessert Ideas That Use Lemons or Oranges

By BETSY NEWMAN

AS Spring approaches, oranges and grapefruit grow less numerous and higher in price, as the crops are used up. We are so fortunate in America to have our own crops of these healthful golden fruit. They provide a goodly portion of our vitamin C.

Lemons, too, we get in abundance, and we can usually get them all year around, for our lemonade and other cooling drinks. An orange or lemon gelatin dessert is always refreshing after a hearty meal, and I'll give you some recipes. Better file them for summer menus, too.

Today's Menu

Dried Beef Curry on Rice
Fresh, Canned or Frozen Green Peas
Crisp Cabbage Salad
Gelatin Orange or Lemon Dessert
Tea or Coffee Milk

Dried Beef Curry on Rice

3½ or 4 ounces dried beef
¼ c. butter or margarine
⅓ c. flour
2½ c. milk
¼ tsp. curry powder
2 c. hot boiled rice

Break beef in pieces and cook in butter until lightly frizzled. Add flour, then stir in milk until thickened; add curry powder (more may be used if liked). Serve hot over the freshly boiled rice. Serves 4 or 5.

Orange Gelatin Trifle

2 tbsp. gelatin (unflavored)
½ c. cold water
1½ c. boiling water
½ c. sugar
Grated rind of 1 orange
½ pt. whipping cream
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Soak gelatin 10 min. in cold water, dissolve in boiling water; add sugar, orange juice, grated rind and lemon juice. Pour one-half the mixture into a shallow pan, dipped in cold water, and chill. Set bowl containing remaining mixture in pan of ice water and stir constantly until mixture begins to thicken; then fold in heavy cream beaten until stiff. Turn into border mold first dipped in cold water, and chill. Fill center with first part removed from pan and cut in cubes. Serves 8.

Gelatin and Orange Juice

2 tbsp. plain, unflavored gelatin
1 c. orange juice
½ c. cold water
2 c. boiling water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
½ c. sugar

Soak gelatin in cold water for 10 min., and dissolve in boiling water; add sugar and stir until dissolved, then add lemon juice and orange juice. Pour into wet mold and chill. Serves 8.

This jelly would be nice to serve with roast fowl as well as for a dessert. A little (1 tsp.) orange rind may be added, if liked.

Lemon Jelly

2 tbsp. plain, unflavored gelatin
½ c. cold water
2 c. boiling water
½ c. lemon juice

GRASS VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

BY DON BURNS

Larry Orzalli opened the first inning with a triple play. The Miners brought home three runs in the first and three in the second, with one in the third. The Honkers scored one in the first and one in the second.

Perhaps the most thrilling play of the day was when in the second inning the bases were loaded and Ken LaCrosse hit a double to drive in three runs.

Batteries were for Grass Valley, Albert Ali, pitching and Pete Daley catching; for Yuba City, Burows pitching and McNally catching.

A special dance was held Thursday afternoon, April 24, for the instruction of dancing. The seniors were the instructors.

Curing a Reading Difficulty That Trips Up Many Beginners

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IT rarely occurs to us oldsters that to a child, early in his reading experience, a word beginning with a small letter may not seem to be nearly the same word it is when it begins with a capital letter, nor at all the same word if the letters are all in capitals as in headings. A very discerning mother writes of her discovery of this problem with her daughters in the first grade and of the way she successfully solved it.

"Dear Dr. Myers:—You have helped me so very much with my children's schooling in the last four years by giving me advice on ways to make their studies easier for them. So I'd like to do something for you by telling you one way that I got my children to be better readers. Then you may print my letter and in that way help some other mothers whose children are poor readers.

In First Grade

"When my two eldest daughters had been in the first grade about four months, I noticed that they were able to tell what some words in their readers were if these words started with a small letter, but unable to tell the same words if they started with capital letters. Sometimes it was the other way around. Also they were unable to read story titles in words all in capitals. I got them over that fault by doing the following:

"I cut large pictures of family, house, barn, etc. out of old newspapers and magazines and I pasted each picture on a large piece of white cardboard. Under each picture I pasted large newspaper words. The reason I used these instead of printing the words myself was because these words were printed in the same type as those in my daughters' readers. And as they had not learned all their ABC's then they were able to read these words better when written in these ways: H O R S E, Horse, horse.

One Certain Word

"When I wanted my daughters to learn one certain word I took the picture that had that word on it and put it into an unglassed picture frame and hung it on our dining room wall, level with their eyes. After they had learned that word well, I remembered the picture and put a new one in its place.

"After my daughters learned their alphabet I made two paper word cards for them. I used only words that began with small letters whenever they had some new words in their readers that they had a little difficulty remembering. I'd get a word card out, then after I told them what the word was I had them look in their reader and see how many times they found it there. Each time they found it they would pronounce it to me."

A Sensible Plan

As I wrote this mother I consider her plan a very ingenious and sensible one. Its chief virtue is in its simplicity and in the delightful cooperation she won from her children. I am sure many other mothers will find her plan worth trying.

There is danger, of course, in centering too much on single words. As a child learns to read he does not just pronounce words. He senses groups of words, even whole sentences. Nevertheless, he is often confronted with the problem of attacking new words.

I have two bulletins on home helps for readers, Part I for the child to the fourth grade inclusive and Part II for the older child. Each may be had in a stamped self-addressed envelope. I am happy to learn that thousands of children have been helped by them.

Rainbow trout are coming up Bluejay and Grass Valley Creeks, San Bernardino County. AID TO NEEDY IN COUNTY

Aid paid to the needy in Nevada County during fiscal year 1945-46 was the equivalent of $16.72 per $1000 of assessed value in the county, California Taxpayers association said today. The county tax rate for general purpose is $13.40 per $1000.

Aid to the needy aged paid in the county during the last completed fiscal yea was equal to 14.88 per $1000 of essessed valuation in the county.

Aid to the needy blind equalled 59 cents per $1000 valuation.

Aid to children averaged 94 cents per $1000 valuation.

General county relief averaged 31 cents per $1000 of taxable value.

Most of the aid to the aged, blind and children in California is financed by the federal and state governments, the taxpayers association said. For example, maximum aid to the aged of $55 per month is financed $25 federal, $25 state, and $5 county. Aid to county indigents is financed by the county alone.
